HIPPIE DRIVER

By: F. D. Flynn

I'm going to let my hair grow long
And be a hippie highway man.
I'm going to take all the girls
out riding in town
For I know I can
I'm going to take them out riding in my 'mobile
And teach them how to drive,
And turn corners on one wheel.

The old man better get off the road and be afraid
Anyhow they ought to be dead long ago . . .
And in their grave.
I wish there was more land,
And less of this earth was sea
So we could have more six-lane highways
And one just for Me!

I'm tired of those pokey drivers
Poking along at 70 or 80
Yes Sir — When I try to pass them sometimes
I've just got to set on my brakes
Until I swerve.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORY of my husband, T. Randolph Gilbert, who departed this life, Oct. 30, 1965. My heart still aches with sadness,
My eyes shed many tears.
No one knows how I miss you
At the end of five years.

I do not need a special day,
To bring you to my mind.
The hours I do not think of you,
Are very hard to find.

To your grave I often go,
Flowers, I place with loving care.
I feel that you are near me,
As I sadly linger there.
Sadly missed by wife, Katie. 10-29-1t

Camp Concepts

by Jane Garrette

With 150 Senior 4-H members as my companions, I was privileged to attend Virginia 4- H Conservation Camp at Camp Farrar, Virginia Beach, this past July. I found camp to be a unique experience because it combined a time for learning, a time for sharing, a time for work, and a time for play, into one glorious week of enjoyment. Everyone returned home with many new and lasting friendships, and, perhaps more important, with new knowledge about our world . . . its' problems and their possible solutions.

Learning groups were offered in the areas of soil and water, forestry, wildlife, insect management, human population, land utilization, water quality, and oceanography.

These concepts are taken from two groups which I found most interesting during my stay at Conservation Camp. Other material dealing with ecology may be obtained from the VPI Extension Division. Indeed, we are all involved in the fight to save our environment. The problem is there, to clean; the solution is not as evident. But, hopefully we will, we must . . . succeed in our struggle to save Mother Nature.
